My homework for a literature class was to present a caricature, so I made a caricature of Mike. At the end of this class, we had a meeting. Teacher Ruben asked me to give the caricature to Mike, but I was embarrassed to give him his caricature because I had done it secretly so he wouldn't find out, but I had to do it or I would get a zero. So I did it!

I do not know what happened since that day; I think Mike liked his caricature. Our year finished, and he went back to the U.S. When he returned to Ecuador, I was no longer in the CMT, because I became pregnant. Mike contacted me through my brother who was still studying at CMT. From that moment we never separated again. He always visited my first daughter Marjorie and then my second daughter Alison, and always on Sundays we would go out with Mike and Margarita to Carolina Park, then to eat KFC and finally to read books at MR. BOOKS.

One of those days they asked me if I would go back to high school. I said yes, but I did not have the resources; they said they would help me; I did not believe it, but they did it. I went back to study, and I was thrilled and I promised to do my best to finish high school, and then I studied cosmetology in ITSEI. I had another son named David. Mike and Margarita always gave me their trust and support. I love them like my parents. GOD gave me Mike and Margarita, and my family prays that God gives them health and life. In my studies, with my family, both morally and financially, in practically all areas of my life.

There are many moments that I remember fondly. The first one was with my children when we went out to eat at KFC, and to read in Mister Books. It filled my life a lot to watch them as Mike and Margarita shared their love with my children. In my studies, when I returned to study after a long time they taught me to persist and not give up. I retook the subject of anatomy; instead of scolding me they encouraged me to continue, and when I graduated I had a beautiful bouquet among many other things, they are my blessing. For me, it is like a home of blessing because when I least expected it and when I needed it most; they came into my life to help me, and I pray every day that God will protect our group and give them much wisdom.

2024 Updated:

I have a hair salon. After the pandemic, it has not been easy to recover the business, now there is greater competition and my clients' income has been reduced. Day by day I seek to continue professionalizing and constantly learning to offer a better service.
